

MICHAEL GORMAN

Michael Gorman lives on Dodson Avenue. He is married to wife Courtney, and has two daughters, Hazel (5) and Waylon (3). Michael works at the Chesapeake Bay Maritime Museum as Shipyard Manager. In that role, he has helped write and implement two 5-year strategic plans, one master plan, manages a shipyard of 10 full-time employees and numerous volunteers. Michael is currently responsible for the restoration of a National Historic Landmark.

Involved in town government, Michael is in his second term on Waterways Management Advisory Board. As a volunteer, Michael is an active participant in Christmas in St. Michaels and Daffodil Festival. Michael also volunteers his time at the St. Michaels Critchlow Atkins Center.

In his spare time, Michael attempts to play old time fiddle and throughout the summer, he can be found at the helm of Bufflehead, the first log canoe to be built in a generation.

Michael believes in geographic and socioeconomic diversity in government leadership. He also believes in more parks, beautification of public spaces, tight knit community, and progressive environmental planning.
